WOMEN TRACKSTERS IN ALL-COMERS MEET IN MOSCOW

MISSOULA--

The record-breaking University of Montana women's indoor track team will attempt to continue its onslaught on Grizzly standards, as they travel to Moscow, Idaho for an all-comers meet, Saturday, February 17.

Coach Will Cheesman's cinderwomen have broken 13 UM indoor track records in just two meets.

In last week's meet in Cheney, Washington, the team continued setting records, and were paced by junior Vicki Roys who ran a 7.6 in the 60-meter dash, and also rounded out the 800-meter relay team of Linda Wilson, Kathy Reidy and Tracy Tobin. The relay team's 1:49.6 was good for first place and a school record.

"I think she'll make it in the Nationals in the 200 or 400," said Cheesman, referring to Roys. "Our sprint medley and 440 relay teams also have a chance to make it, I think."

Cheesman said he expected a good meet from Roys this week in Moscow, since it's her home town.

Reidy, a freshman from Missoula, has broke four indoor track records already in her short career at UM, including the long jump (16-8) and 60M hurdles (9.45) last week.

"Kathy Reidy is a hard worker and doing a super job for us," Cheesman said. "She's already broken a lot of records, and she'll break a lot more before she's finished."

Cheesman also praised Linda Wilson, a freshman from Miles City, who has placed in every meet. Wilson specializes in the sprints.
